

1K1DAY

COIN COLLECTIVE TYPES

DATA GURU

Coin Collective Types

You're a details person. Lists, reports, tests, personal development books, and KNOWLEDGE are your JAM!

You love the stats and facts, and don't need to get caught up in the big picture- lets get some info and get through today! You prefer to be behind the scenes, thinking of all the different elements and pieces that make something excellent—doing research and paperwork to make sure things get done.

While you understand the importance of fun, and things 'looking pretty,' you'd rather someone else take care of all of that so you can focus on features like planning and organization—because that's how things really happen. You're the one in the group that always takes charge of making sure plans and ideas actually happen- knowing the restaurant, activity details, and all the pieces to make any occasion great. This is the best thing about you- you're always up to speed.

That said, you know you could benefit from some long range vision to make your dreams a reality. You probably already know your 'Example' (where you want to be), but need a Visionary, Task Master, and Pusher to help you get the job done. $1K1Day will help you get there. Build your Coin Collective to support your financial dreams!

EXAMPLE

Coin Collective Types

You've accomplished a lot already.

With a long list of successes, people often come to you looking for advice on how to replicate your results. However, you still have big dreams and big plans. You can see the end game and where you want to be while people are still caught up in details. You're great at orchestrating innovative and necessary businesses and products- but implementation isn't always a breeze, and you always need someone to handle the logistics.

While you understand the importance of lists, and organization- you'd rather someone else take care of all of that- and focus on features like earning income, and generating leads and ultimately sales. You're the one in the group that always spots an opportunity to create a solutions for problems.

That said, you know you could benefit from some structure to make your plans a reality- You probably already know your 'Example' (where you want to be)- but need A Data Guru, Task Master, Visionary and Pusher to help you get the job done. $1K1Day will help you get there. Build your Coin Collective to support your financial dreams!

PUSHER

Coin Collective Types

You love to see others succeed, but get your real charge from empowering others to accomplish their goals.

You can see the end game, and are the first person people turn to when they need a pick-me-up. Your best skill is thinking of all the different elements and pieces to make someone's plans excellent—and blasting through their negativity to push them towards their goals.

While you understand the importance of motivation, you may not be great at motivating yourself and find yourself 'knowing what needs to be done,' but not always getting off the couch to do it. You're the one in the group that always has a kind, motivating word to say—and people love this about you. This is the best thing about you: you're rarely the one knocking others down.

That said, you know you could benefit from some structure and a visionary of your own to make your dreams a reality. You probably already know your 'Example' (where you want to be), but need A Visionary, Task Master, and Data Guru to help you get the job done. $1K1Day will help you get there. Build your Coin Collective to support your financial dreams!

TASK MASTER

Coin Collective Types

You're a do-er. You think in list form.

If someone says “I want to do this,” you’re the first one to break down that list into 1-2-3 steps. You prefer to be in action, thinking of all the different elements and pieces to make something excellent—right away, sometimes while starting. While you understand the importance of lists, and organization, you may struggle with not always having all the research finished, knowing the big picture plan, and how to monetize it. You’re the one in the group that always takes something that seems challenging and makes it look easy with your ideas and fun. This is the best thing about you—you rarely seem like you don’t have it together, even if you feel that way.

That said, you know you could benefit from some pushing and vision to make your dreams a reality. You probably already know your ‘Example’ (where you want to be), but need A Data Guru, Visionary, and Pusher to help you get the job done. $1K1Day will help you get there. Build your Coin Collective to support your financial dreams!

VISIONARY

Coin Collective Types

You're a long range person. You have big dreams and big plans.

You can see the end game and where you want to be while people are still caught up in details. You prefer to be creative, thinking of all the different elements and pieces to make something excellent—not the boring details and paperwork.

While you understand the importance of lists, and organization, you'd rather someone else take care of all of that—so you can focus on features like music, design, art, dance, parties, events, fashion and FUN! You're the one in the group that always takes something basic and makes it spectacular with your ideas and fun. This is the best thing about you—you're never boring.

That said, you know you could benefit from some structure to make your dreams a reality. You probably already know your 'Example' (where you want to be), but need A Data Guru, Task Master, and Pusher to help you get the job done. $1K1Day will help you get there. Build your Coin Collective to support your financial dreams!